

What about arsenic?

You can't see, smell, or taste arsenic, yet many people in the U.S. are exposed to low levels of arsenic through food, water, and other sources. If your drinking water comes from a private well, have it tested to make sure it doesn't contain arsenic. The EPA Maximum Contaminant Level for arsenic in drinking water is 10 ug/L (the same as 10 ppb).

2 in 10
Wells in NH have too much arsenic

1 in 10
Wells in ME have too much arsenic

10 ug/L

Maximum Contaminant Level

Data Literacy

Develop creative and practical skills

Ask real world questions

Answer using large and small datasets

Communicate findings with others

CURRICULUM

Scientific Process

Question

Sample

Analyze

Conclude

Share

Action

Community Meeting

Water Filtration

Talking with Others

Legislative Action